

- 1 The ideal point to develop the next stage of growth
- 2 The point at which performance starts to decline and most management teams start to review strategy options
- 3 The point when gradual decline turns into rapid deterioration and management tries anything to turn performance around